Assignment No 3

Title : Design a dynamic web app like fashion store / E- Commerce product using HTML, CSS & JS. Also use bootstrap CDN if required.

Objectives:

- To understand the structure of an e-commerce / fashion store web application
- To learn how HTML is used to create product layouts and page content
- To apply CSS for styling product cards, buttons, and overall design
- To understand dynamic functionality using JavaScript
- To implement responsive design using Bootstrap CDN
- To design a user-friendly and visually appealing fashion store webpage

Outcomes:

- Create a structured e-commerce / fashion store webpage
- Design product sections using HTML elements such as images, buttons, links, and cards
- Apply CSS to enhance layout, colors, fonts, and spacing
- Use JavaScript to add dynamic features like product interactions or cart behavior
- Implement responsive design using Bootstrap (if required)
- Display products clearly and professionally like a real online store

Theory:

An e-commerce or fashion store web application is a website that allows users to view products, explore categories, and interact with items such as adding them to a cart or viewing details. It is commonly used by online businesses to showcase and sell their products digitally.

HTML (HyperText Markup Language) is used to define the structure and content of the e-commerce website. It helps create product listings, images, headings, buttons, navigation bars, and sections.

CSS (Cascading Style Sheets) is used to style the fashion store website. It controls the layout, colors, fonts, spacing, and overall appearance, making the website attractive and user-friendly.

JavaScript is used to add dynamic behavior to the web app. It enables features such as product filtering, interactive buttons, price updates, and simple cart functionality.

Bootstrap is a front-end framework that provides ready-made CSS classes and responsive components. Using Bootstrap CDN helps make the e-commerce website responsive and mobile-friendly with less effort.

A typical fashion store / e-commerce web page includes:

- Header section with logo and navigation bar
- Product listing section with images, names, and prices
- Category or filter section
- Add to cart or action buttons
- Footer section with contact or social links

Conclusion :

In this project, a dynamic travel website was designed using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript with the use of Bootstrap CDN. HTML was used to structure different sections such as destinations, travel packages, and contact details. CSS was applied to enhance the visual appearance of the website, and JavaScript was used to add interactive and dynamic features. Bootstrap helped in making the website responsive and accessible on different devices.

This project helped in understanding front-end web development concepts and demonstrated how real-world travel websites are designed. It also improved practical skills in creating attractive, user-friendly, and responsive web applications.
